

NEWS OF ROCKVILLE AND REST OF COUNTY

Pair Sentenced to Penitentiary for Two Years Each for Stealing Jewelry.

ROCKVILLE, Md., Nov. 27.—In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, Miss Minnie H. Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee Watkins, of Cedar Grove, this county, and Cecil B. Allnutt, of the same locality, were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents, The Rev. L. A. Thomas, pastor of the Cedar Grove Baptist Church, officiated. Following the ceremony, a collation was served, Mr. and Mrs. Allnutt leaving later for their honeymoon trip.

The Rev. P. Rowland Wagner, pastor of the Baptist Church, officiated at the marriage here yesterday of Miss Margaret C. Huyette, of Albany, N. Y., and Warren L. Slocumbe, of Alexandria, Va., the home of the minister being the scene of the ceremony.

Charles Bennett, a young resident of Derwood, was found guilty by a jury in the circuit court here last evening on a charge of perjury. It was said that in a local option case at the March term of court, he gave different testimony than he did before the grand jury. Sentence was not passed.

The county commissioners have appointed Josiah J. Hutton and Snowden J. Athey trustees of the county almshouse, succeeding Harry Riggs and Eleazar Ray. The other trustees who were named last week are Mrs. Virginia R. Brower, Samuel D. Byrd, and Henson T. Miles.

Pleading guilty in the circuit court here to an indictment charging her with violating the local option law of the county by selling wine and hard cider, Mrs. Lingerose Fitzsimmons, of Middlebrook, was fined $50 and costs. Sentence was suspended in another case in which she pleaded guilty.

HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

Official Circles Quietly Celebrate Thanksgiving—Notes of the Diplomats—Activities of Society

SOCIETY, as much of it as was in town, braved the rain last night and danced in the Willard ballroom for the benefit of the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. It was rather a revelation when it seemed as if "everybody in Washington was out of it" for the Thanksgiving week-end, to see how many there were to dance in a good cause. The ballroom, decorated only with flags and greenery, was well filled, and while in the absence of the President and Mrs. Wilson, and the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall—in fact, of the official world generally—there was no "honorary box," the band being stationed on the platform half way down the room which is frequently used for that purpose.

Like all the functions for the Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, it was essentially a party of the resident set, a handsome, dignified conventional entertainment, everything beautifully managed, and running on well-oiled ball bearings, the floor always well filled, but at no time uncomfortably crowded. One could dance without undue jostling, and the dancers did not have that worried, strained look which often comes at the big dances from the endeavor to steer through an over-crowded room.

The receiving line was limited to the president of the board of lady managers, Mrs. Watson Clark, and Mrs. David Meade Lee, the vice president, with Comdr. Theodore Jewell making the introductions. Mrs. Clarke wore black net, jetted, and with a border design of white beads, over rather a deep turquoise blue silk, with diamond pins and ornaments, the colorings in striking contrast to the Lea, who wore a lovely glittery gown of cloth of gold brocade in deep rich red and blue, with a bodice largely of plain cloth of gold and tulle, and a narrow square train of the brocade lined with plain cloth of gold. She wore diamond ornaments and a string of pearls.

The debutantes and members of the younger set who had not gone to New York wore the daintiest possible gowns, making a lovely changing bouquet of colors on the floor. Miss Marjorie Seaman, who seemed to have several partners for each dance, wore a lovely costume of silver cloth and tulle. Miss Marie Simms, who sat out most of the evening, very well entertained, wore a most becoming deep turquoise blue. Little Miss Morgan, who made her debut last Monday, was a lovely little rose girl in pink tulle, while Peggy Martin, who is to make her formal bow shortly, was all in white with a neckerchief of white chiffon with a peacock blue fan, and Anne Dulany, who is also to make her debut early next month, glowed in salmon pink chiffon.

Carolyn Nash wore a lovely green tulle, veiled in black tulle, and Miss George Leroy Boyle, who is still Margaret McChord to most Washingtonians, was demure in black tulle and tulle. Miss Elizabeth Walmsley wore rose tulle and a black and white band of gold. Miss Charlotte Freeman Clark midnight blue tulle with a bodice of sequins; Gladys Hinckley, white brocade velvet with a drapery of white chiffon; Mrs. Sherman Miles, silver gauze veiled in black chiffon; Mrs. Hampton Gary, a lovely gown of blue and silver brocade, and her sister, Mrs. Wright, all in silver cloth.

Miss Ruth Hitchcock was in cloth of silver, Mrs. McKenna Pultz, black velvet; Mrs. F. B. Moran, black velvet; Mrs. James A. Drain, black velvet trimmed with gold lace; Miss Marian Drain, black net over cloth of silver; Mrs. George Meade, black tulle and chiffon and touches of black velvet and point lace and diamonds; Miss Helen Blodgett, bright rose-colored tulle and tulle, trimmed with French blue, and a feather fan of French blue. Miss Mona Blodgett wore silver lace with overdrape of white chiffon, trimmed with dainty rosebuds and an American Beauty feather fan; Mrs. Edward Keyes, heavy white tulle, brocade in dainty clusters of French flowers.

Supper was served in the small ball room at 11 o'clock, at small tables lighted by red shaded candles. One of the hotel attendants caused considerable amusement by repeatedly announcing in stentorian tones that supper was being served and urging the guests "this way for supper" until he had them all herded safely into the small ball room or grouped closely around the entrance and the ball room practically deserted. It sounded as some of the guests laughingly commented rather like the last of French dinner in the dining car. But it served its purpose of getting the guests seated.

Naturally neither Mrs. Clarke nor Mrs. Lea was able to give much attention to the guests in the boxes until late in the evening when they went off duty on the receiving line. In Mr. and Mrs. Clark's party were her daughter, Miss Charlotte Freeman Clark, Mrs. Frazz Hume, Miss Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Lea entertained the Rev. Meade B. MacBryde, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Pope, and Mr. Lucian Jones.

Among other box holders were Col. William Eric Fowler who had among his guests, Mrs. James Carroll Frazer, Mrs. McKenna Pultz, Colonel and Mrs. Sherman Miles, Miss Ruth Hitchcock, Miss Gladys Hinckley, Miss Carolyn Nash, John Barrett, Mr. Flournoy, Mr. Callas and Mr. Hill; Mrs. E. J. Stellwagen who entertained Miss Edna McKenney, Miss Isabel Hacker, Mr. Thomas McKenney and Miss Paff. Mrs. Charles Boughton Wood, who had with her Mrs. Mahlon Pitney, Mr. Mahlon Pitney, Jr., from Princeton, who is here for the holidays; Mr. and Mrs. Effingham Townsend and Miss Moran, Mrs. Francis Berger Moran, whose guests were Mrs. Howard Sutherland and her house guest, Miss Reilly, of New York; Mrs. Hampton Gary, and Mrs. Wright, Commander and Mrs. Freyer, Mrs. Macfarland and Robert Warner; Mrs. Thomas F. Chataway, whose party included Judge and Mrs. Charles R. Howry, Capt. C. C. Alhoun, Miss Margaret Simonds and Miss Taylor, Mrs. Stephen Ekins, Mrs. Dimock and others. Numerous dinners and theater parties were given by hostesses, who brought their guests to the dance to wind up the evening.

Thanksgiving is being spent quietly with most the officials and their wives. Some of them having slipped out of town for a few days' rest. The Secretary of the State, Lansing attended the usual high ceremonial mass this morning, and are having a family dinner at home. They will entertain as is their usual custom with a reception for the officials of the State Department and the heads of bureaus and their wives. Mrs. Lansing will be assisted by her mother, Mrs. Foster; her sister, Mrs. A. W. Dulles, of Auburn, N. Y., and her nieces, Mrs. John Foster Dulles and Miss Natalie Dulles.

The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, who have been South for some time, are spending Thanksgiving in Charleston, S. C. They will return on Saturday.

Secretary and Mrs. Lane will spend Thanksgiving Day in Washington, having a quiet dinner at home, and will leave town tomorrow for a few days' rest. Miss Nancy Lane, who went to New York to attend the dinner given in her honor by Mrs. George Barton French before the Rogers ball, will remain there until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barton French, 107 East Seventy-first street, will give a dinner for Miss Nancy Lane this evening, afterward taking their guests to the dance given by Mrs. Walter B. James.

Senator and Mrs. Medill McCormick will be at home this afternoon at her home in Nineteenth street to the delegation from Illinois and all Illinois people at present in Washington.

Receiving with Mrs. McCormick will be Mrs. James R. Mann, Mrs. Ira C. Copley, Mrs. Edward J. King, Mrs. W. A. Rodenberg and Mrs. Spitzer.

The Japanese delegation to the international labor conference entertained at dinner last evening in the ballroom of the Willard Hotel, having among their guests the Swiss minister, Hans Sulzer; the former Italian ambassador at the post, Baron des Planches; the Japanese ambassador, Kijuro Shidehara; Rt. Hon. G. N. Barnes the Hon. A. Fontaine, Samuel Gompers, the Hon. Olgeon D. Robertson, H. B. Butler, E.

Kamada, M. Oka, K. Kumasaki and Mr. Vickers.

The Belgian Ambassador and Baroness de Cartier returned to Washington yesterday from Philadelphia, where they went for the reception given for them by Mr. and Mrs. T. Stotesbury, after the opera performance, at which they were guests in the Stotesbury box.

Mme. Sulzer, wife of the Swiss minister, has been coming to her home for several days owing to a severe cold and is unable to fill her engagements.

Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell Palmer have left the city for a few days and will spend Thanksgiving in Atlantic City.

Col. and Mrs. Edward T. Brown left Washington yesterday for Farm River, Mass., to join their son and daughter Major Edward M. Brown and Miss Marjorie Brown, who have been on a visit in New England for the past ten days, attending the Yale Harvard game. They will go to New York on Saturday to attend the Army and Navy game and return to Washington on Monday.

Navy Relief Ball Tonight.

Tonight is the date set for the great Thanksgiving ball of the Navy Relief Society at the New Willard, which promises to be one of the most successful balls of the fall season. The purpose of the ball is to raise funds for needy families of the navy and marine corps. Mrs. Z. L. Tanner, at the Parkwood, is in charge of the sale of the tickets which may be purchased either from her or at the door. Among the boxholders at the ball tonight will be Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Admiral and Mrs. Henry P. Mayo, Col. Robert M. Thompson, Mrs. Willard B. Brown, Mrs. Eric Fowler, Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, Mrs. Richardson Clover, whose box will be used by wounded soldiers; Mrs. Emory Winslow, Mrs. I. C. Copley, Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Mabel Boardman, Mrs. Julian James, Mrs. Truman Newberry, Mrs. J. Berger Moran, Mrs. E. J. Dorn, Mrs. Z. L. Tanner, Mrs. J. O. Nicolson, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Meade, and Mrs. George Barnett, in charge of the sale of boxes.

A number of dinner parties will be given immediately before the ball, from which the hostesses will take their guests to the dance. Mrs. Niblack, wife of Admiral Niblack; Mrs. Barnett, wife of the commandant of the marine corps, and Mrs. Henry P. Dimock are among such hostesses.

Col. and Mrs. Robert M. Thompson will entertain thirty wounded soldiers from Walter Reed Hospital today at their residence on Twenty-third street. There will be a dinner, followed by a vaudeville performance and supper for them.

Rear Admiral A. H. Scales, superintendent of the Naval Academy, and Mrs. Scales will entertain a party at the Army-Navy in New York, on Saturday.

The party will occupy a box in the Navy stands on the south side of the field. Those occupying the box will be Lord and Lady Swathling, of the British peerage; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Scales, of Greensboro, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Z. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cobb, S. B. McCormick, chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh; Commander and Mrs. John S. Abbott, Miss Aroostine Scales and Harriet Scales, daughters of Admiral and Mrs. Scales.

General and Mrs. T. Q. Donaldson will entertain informally at dinner this evening.

Mrs. Thomas F. Logan and Mrs. Sinclair Bowen will entertain all of the members of the Riding and Hunt Club who are to take part in the paper chase, at a breakfast and noon-day dance today. This hospitality will be carried out regardless of the weather, and among those who will take part in the chase are Miss Carolyn Nash, Miss Cockerell, Ames Brown, Capt. Carlo Tappi, Colonel George Count Rosen, Emile Fontanel, Lieut. Philippe Barbier and Gino Buti.

Charles D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution of Washington, has been elected an associate member of the French Academy of Sciences, one of the highest honors in the scientific world.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Penfield are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eason, of Omaha, parents of Mrs. Penfield, arrived last evening to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Penfield.

TAKE HAIR OUT NOT OFF THE SKIN

Hair is bound to grow out coarser and stiffer when merely removed from the surface of the skin. The only common-sense way to remove hair is to attack it under the skin. DeMiracle, the original sanitary liquid, does this by absorption.

Only genuine DeMiracle has a money-back guarantee in each package. At toilet counters in 50c. and $2.00 sizes, or by mail from us in plain wrapper on receipt of price.

DeMiracle being mailed in plain sealed envelope on request. DeMiracle, 120th St. and Park Ave., New York.
